Important Definitions

Accelerated Death Benefit (ADB)

An advance payment of part or all of a life insurance policy's death benefit if the insured is diagnosed with a terminal illness or qualifying condition. The payment is deducted (with any interest or fees) from the policy's face amount, reducing the death benefit paid to beneficiaries. Receiving an ADB may affect taxes or eligibility for government benefits such as Medicaid.

You can request an ADB if you're:

- Terminally ill (life expectancy 12 months or less)
- Unable to do two or more daily living activities on your own
- Cognitively impaired (advanced dementia or Alzheimer's)

Conversion Right

Lets a certificateholder change (convert) all or part of their group life insurance coverage into an individual permanent life insurance policy without medical evidence if certain events occur — such as leaving the eligible class, ending employment, the group policy ending, or a reduction in coverage.

Limitations and Exclusions for AD&D

Key exclusions include losses caused or contributed to by:

- Disease, infirmity, or medical treatment | Suicide or self-inflicted injury
- War, military service, or terrorism | Intoxication or illegal drug use
- Felony or illegal activity | Extreme sports (skydiving, rock climbing, etc.)
- Racing or stunt activities | Non-passenger aircraft travel

Important: This is a brief overview of some key exclusions. As agents, please review all policy materials thoroughly with your prospective members to ensure they understand the complete list of exclusions and limitations. Exclusions and limitations may vary by state. Refer to the policy certificate for full terms and conditions of coverage.
